

Survey of 2016 Graduates - A.A. in Liberal Arts (Social and Behavioral Sciences)

INTRODUCTION

Congratulations on your recent award of an Associate degree in Liberal Arts from Santiago Canyon College! Thank you for taking the time to complete this brief survey.

The purpose of this self-assessment is to allow SCC to better meet the needs of its students by seeking out opinions of recent SCC graduates; your honesty is appreciated as your answers will provide important and valuable feedback for the purpose of improving the Liberal Arts program.

Starting on the next page, this survey will ask you to rate your abilities and knowledge related to the Student Learning Outcomes listed below before you attended SCC and after you completed your degree at SCC.

Your responses will remain anonymous and confidential.

Students who receive the AA Liberal Arts Degree in Social and Behavioral Sciences will:

- 1. Be able to think critically about how individuals are influenced by political, economic, cultural and family institutions in various cultural settings.*
- 2. Have experience using social science methods of data collection and analysis in order to draw logical conclusions about individuals and society.*
- 3. Be able to discuss, analyze, and compare and contrast U.S. and world political systems in various historical periods.*
